

A dark, vertical, textured strip, possibly a book binding or a piece of paper, showing signs of wear and discoloration. The strip is narrow and runs vertically, with a rough, uneven edge on the left side. The main body of the strip is dark, almost black, with some lighter, greyish areas near the edges, suggesting a material like leather or heavy paper. There are some small, light-colored spots and fibers visible within the dark area, giving it a grainy appearance. The overall shape is rectangular, oriented vertically.
